

McLeod.—On the 4th inst., at Utica, N. Y., a jury was empanelled for the trial of this troublesome man, we therefore hope, that in a few days the long discussed question of his guilt or innocence will be decided, and justice, no doubt, will be meted out to him, be that what it may.

The South Carolinian.—This valuable paper, we perceive, has, according to promise, appeared in an entire new neat dress, and been considerably enlarged in size. The talented editor, who has always been among the foremost in all the struggles of the Democratic party, for their rights, deserves to be well supported by them, as he is one of the best caterers the party has in the State, and one who spares neither labor nor expense to make his Journal, which is now in the front rank, useful, to both the political and commercial community. May the success attend him which he justly merits.

The Dollar Magazine.—We have received the 10th number of this periodical, and find that it holds its own, in the way of Poetry, Prose, and Music, all of which are of the first water, and deserve the support of all lovers of Literature. It is embellished with some handsome Engravings, one of those accompanying this number is the New York Fall Fashions, for Ladies and Gentlemen's Riding Costume. The Magazine is published monthly, 32 pages royal octavo, at the moderate price of one dollar per annum.

The Bank Reformer.—We have received the 2nd number of this periodical, published by Mr. Rufin, of Petersburg, Va., each number will contain 16 pages octavo, and from the known talent of its proprietor, it will no doubt be a valuable work.

"The contents will consist principally of such articles as the name and objects of the publication would indicate, together with a summary of general news and occurrences of the month, and especially of news on banking and bank frauds.

"The terms of sale will be as follows:—$5 will pay for 200 copies of any one or more numbers, to be directed by mail or otherwise to any single address; or 150 copies to be directed separately.

"$1 will pay for 3 copies of the series of 6, (or 15 single numbers), or for 25 copies, if of any numbers to be selected by the publisher; in either case the supply to be directed to one address.

"50 cents will pay for 1 copy of the series of 6 Nos. All payments to be in advance."

We received the following extract from a subscriber, with a request to publish it for the rising generation. He says he does not know the author, or he would give him credit for his piece; but he says, "they are his sentiments exactly." We hope our fair readers may not profit by it, and that our subscriber may not be made ever again to suffer from their feet (i. e.) if he has ever been kicked by any of them.

Woman's Heart.—There will always be a great deal of misery in the world, while the present system of education, which renders it unmanly to evince the heart's emotions, continues. It has been said that a man should be discouraged at his first ill success, and that a woman's heart which is worth a siege; and will be the more prized for the difficulty that is experienced in obtaining it. This logic, like a great deal of other logic, predicated upon a false position, is unsubstantial. In ninety nine cases out of a hundred, the lover, whose whole soul is engrossed in that of his mistress, and whose love is worth obtaining, retires from the siege, under a feeling of true delicacy, that his manifest attentions have not met with that return, which an apparent passion, if reciprocated, would have caused; while a cold calculating lover, whose heart is not worth a fraction of that which felt so much for its idol, by his very importunity, succeeds.

We are not so Quixotic as to suppose that we can, by our writing, change the current of fashionable education; but if in one single instance our remarks on this subject can turn a good girl from the error of her tutored ways, we shall be satisfied. Women have all enough of natural competency in their disposition, without having recourse to art, and yet bountiful as nature has been in this respect, art not content with being her handmaid, has become her mistress, and lauded it over her in triumph. The happiness of a life is not a small matter, and an engagement that must last till death, should be well weighed before being entered upon. So ladies—dear ladies—you know that you are dear to us—when you have found an object worthy your love, whose passion is apparent—throw to the winds, the precepts of schoolmistresses, maiden aunts, and antiquated cousins, or kind acquaintances, who are but jealous of your good fortune. Reserve your rules of etiquette for ordinary occasions.—Evince the emotions that you feel—the emotions of a true, warm and confident heart will make you doubly dear to him who loves it. Remember that delays are dangerous—that there is many a slip 'twixt cup and lip. Throw aside at once, and forever, all foolish affectations, and secure your own happiness.

"Love is a sea upon whose swelling breast Lie strewn the wrecks of fond affection lost; And constant hearts beneath its waters rest, By adverse breakers on their passage cross."

These adverse breakers are too often the foolish scruples of propriety, with which fashionable educated young women are inoculated.

Health of Hamburg.—We have cause to feel grateful to an overruling Providence, for the good health our City has enjoyed the past summer, and so far of the present fall season. We have had no sickness worth relating—almost without sickness, and but one death, that we have heard of during all this time.—Hamburg Journal.

OBITUARY.

Departed this on Sunday Morning the 10th inst., Harriet Martha, infant daughter of Rev. S. W. and Mary Kennerly, aged one year and ten days.

Christ has said, suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven.

"I take these little lambs" said he, "And lay them in my breast: Protection they shall find in me, In me be ever blest.

His words the happy parents hear, And shout with joy divine:

O Saviour all we have and are, Shall be for ever thine."

Water Proof Warehouse.
HAMBURG, September 20, 1841

THE Subscriber begs leave to inform his friends and the public, that he continues the WAREHOUSE and COMMISSION BUSINESS, at his former stand, known as the Water Proof Warehouse.

Detached as it is from other buildings, its location renders it nearly as secure from fire, as it were fire proof. The floors of its two wings have been elevated above the high water mark of the great freshet of May 1840; and each of these divisions of the building, will store from 1,500 to 1,800 bales of Cotton, both of these are designed to be exclusively set apart for the Cotton planters and country merchants, who will thus be secured from the possibility of
